

KNOW WHAT TO DO ABOUT THE FLU

PARTICIPATE IN A SPECIAL FLU.GOV WEBCAST FOR HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS

Ask our experts your questions and share your perspective about H1N1 influenza and the H1N1 flu vaccine. Get the latest information to educate your patients, co-workers, and community on the best way to fight the flu!

DETAILS: Join us 12 - 1 PM ET Wednesday, December 16, as experts from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and the former president of the American Medical Association answer your questions about the H1N1 virus and vaccine. Hosted by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, the show airs live on www.flu.gov.

WHEN: Wednesday, December 16, 12 - 1 PM ET

PARTICIPANTS: Dr. Regina Benjamin, Surgeon General, U.S. Department of Health & Human Services
Dr. Anne Schuchat, Director, National Center for Immunization & Respiratory Diseases, Centers for Disease Control & Prevention
Dr. Nicole Lurie, Assistant Secretary for Preparedness & Response, U.S. Department of Health & Human Services
Dr. Nancy Nielsen, Immediate Past President, American Medical Association

HOW CAN I PARTICIPATE?

Join the discussion by sending questions or comments to hhsstudio@hhs.gov.

WHERE CAN I FIND MORE INFORMATION ABOUT WHAT I SHOULD DO ABOUT THE FLU?

Flu.gov is your one-stop website for all the latest information about the flu and the new H1N1 flu virus from the CDC and other top scientists and doctors across the Administration.

Use our flu.gov marketing tools to spread the word about flu.gov to your friends, families and patients and help them get the facts too.